CONFERENCE

1                   THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: SEC v. Bronson.

2                   THE COURT: Who wants to talk?

3                   MR. FISCHER: We can start, your Honor. We've been 4 requesting the conference and we apologize for the number of 5 letters that have gone back and forth, but we have been 6 requesting the conference so we'll start.

7                   As you're well aware, this case is about whether my 8 client, Edward Bronson and E-Lionheart were entitled to rely on 9 certain securities registration exemptions codified under 10 Rule 504 and the Delaware Securities Code. And your Honor 11 addressed those issues at length in your opinion and order last 12 March before my firm was in the case.

13                  The SEC has steadfastly maintained that we were not 14 entitled to rely on those exemptions. Their complaint says 15 that we were not entitled to rely on those exemptions. In 16 opposing prior counsel's motion to dismiss they urged this 17 Court to conclude that the facts on the face of the complaint
18 were not sufficient to trigger those exemptions. And the Court 19 sided with the SEC on that and said you're right, those 20 exemptions aren't triggered. And the Court went through a very 21 complicated analysis in terms of examining all the relevant 22 statutes, state law and federal law.

23                  Something happened after that. After March of 2014, 24 something happened. About 20 pages of documents were given to 25 prior counsel under a protective order and those documents shed

CONFERENCE

1 light on the main issues in the case. Those documents reveal
2 that in 2010 representatives from the SEC --

3 THE COURT: -- spoke to the Commissioner. I've read 4 all the letters.

5 MR. FISCHER: -- spoke to the Delaware Securities 6 Commissioner and solicited an opinion on the application of the 7 Delaware Securities Law exemption not in the abstract but in 8 the context of Edward Bronson and his company E-Lionheart, 9 attached a letter, the attorney opinion letter, many of them -- 10 there were many of them in the context of this case as they 11 opined on the relevant transactions, attached the attorney
12 opinion letter from a woman named Virginia Sorliss, and said 13 basically we're trying to get our arms around this, we're 14 coming to you seeking interpretive guidance, we want your 15 opinion, look at this attorney opinion letter and let us know 16 what you think, is this right.

17 THE COURT: The Commissioner said that the attorney's 18 view is correct.

19 MR. FISCHER: Correct. Correct. And I can get into 20 sort of the exact language but you've got it. Why is this 21 relevant, your Honor?

22 THE COURT: It's clearly relevant. I get it.

23 MR. FISCHER: So I don't have to go through all the 24 permutations as to why it's relevant. What's our ask? What 25 we'd like to do and what I think would make a lot of sense

1 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 right now is to press pause for a brief amount of time on the 2 proceedings to allow us to conduct some limited expedited 3 discovery on whether there are any other communications between 4 the SEC and state regulators on the interpretation of the 5 relevant registration exemptions at issue in this case. We 6 think it's critical. We think we need to know as we move to 7 fact discovery, we need to know, to the extent there are more 8 documents indicating what regulators' opinions are as to their 9 own law, we'd like to know that and we think we need to know 10 that and we think we're entitled to know that.

11 THE COURT: Why do you think you wouldn't get that in 12 the normal course of discovery?

13 MR. FISCHER: We might. We certainly have reason to 14 believe that there are some additional documents that exist 15 right now. We might get that in the normal course of 16 discovery. But I think that the problem that that would create 17 is it would make us sort of, we'd be litigating fact discovery 18 or taking fact discovery, not litigating fact discovery, we'd 19 be involved in fact discovery on the one hand and yet trying to 20 figure out what the legal framework is on the other hand.

21 THE COURT: Isn't that always the case?

22 MR. FISCHER: I don't know.

23 THE COURT: Plaintiff files a complaint. Defendant 24 answers or moves to dismiss. The motion is denied. We go to 25 discovery. And it may be that there are certain batches of

Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 discovery that are more relevant than others, more helpful to 2 the defendant's case than others. Defendant starts salivating, 3 says I can't wait to go to summary judgment, but we don't 4 typically pause and say let's just keep getting the good stuff, 5 and we're not going to let anything else happen. It seems to 6 me that if you're right, that there's more stuff out there and 7 you're right that it's relevant, then you should get it. And 8 you should get other things that might be relevant and helpful 9 and other things that might not be helpful but still relevant.
10 At the same time the SEC is entitled to take discovery from 11 your client. I don't know why we need to pause anything. It 12 seems to me from your standpoint what you'd like to do is get 13 discovery done so you can get to your summary judgment motion.

14 MR. FISCHER: This case does present a somewhat 15 anomalous fact or has unfolded in a somewhat anomalous way.
16 Everybody's done the work and read the complaint and read your 17 opinion, and now all of a sudden we're seeing that there may be 18 cracks in that foundation. And to the extent there are more 19 cracks, we think it's relevant to know now. And I'll tell you 20 why. From an efficiency perspective, what if the law as 21 interpreted by other regulators -- we're finding out through 22 the course of discovery that maybe our view of the world is 23 right and we're conducting fact discovery but we're finding out 24 sort of more and more that our view is right. That may have to 25 cause us to go back, take more depositions on the sort of

1 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 relevant thinking of the regulators who are siding with us and 2 ask those relevant questions.

3 I'll say this. We do have reason to believe, there 4 was a parallel case, there may be many parallel cases involving 5 this but there was a parallel case in front of Judge
6 Scheindlin, we'll call it the Garber case, SEC v. Danny Garber 7 and others, in which there seemed to be at least some other
8 communications not with Delaware regulators but Texas 9 regulators.

10 THE COURT: Now we're talking serious regulators.
11 That's meant for Amanda who is from Texas.

12 MR. FISCHER: Whole other ball of wax. It don't know 13 that it would be burdensome for the SEC to make those documents 14 available now. If that causes us to have to run back to your 15 Honor and have to address front issues now as we approach fact 16 discovery, then on the back --

17 THE COURT: This is fact discovery. It's like a 18 tiered analysis. The bottom line is I think from your 19 perspective, this may be one of these cases where the defendant 20 is more eager than the plaintiff to get through the discovery.
21 So get through it. If you're right and you think there's more 22 documents that may be relevant and helpful to you, then you 23 should be only too glad not to pause and get through it. The 24 SEC should be allowed to take discovery from your client as 25 well. If you're trying to basically say we want them to give

CONFERENCE

1 us everything, especially the good stuff, and then we're going 2 to pause on everything else, I don't see how that could be 3 right.

4 MR. FISCHER: I guess, your Honor, the way I had 5 divided it in my own head, and maybe it wasn't coming out as 6 clearly, the pause was to let's deal with what we think is the 7 legal issue now so we have either clarity or not. Maybe we 8 won't have any clarity. Maybe it will be as clear as mud. But 9 we'll deal with the legal issue now and in an expedited way 10 such that if there are any issues that we think need 11 clarification before we dive into -- we're not saying don't get 12 into the fact discovery issue. We will get into the fact
13 discovery issue. But there are legal issues now --

14 THE COURT: This is fact discovery. When you're 15 getting this information from the SEC about their consultation 16 with Delaware regulators, that is fact discovery.

17 MR. FISCHER: True.

18 THE COURT: The legal analysis is informed by the 19 evolving factual landscape, evolving because you're getting 20 stuff that prior counsel didn't have before the motion was 21 filed. I know there was some finger pointing going on about 22 how come the SEC didn't give us this earlier. Okay, fine. I 23 just don't understand why this case should be any different 24 than any other case, especially it seems to me that the fact 25 discovery here is a fairly contained and knowable universe of

CONFERENCE

1 either depositions or interrogatories or documents and let's 2 just get it done. I don't know how we divide this up. Because 3 to say well, we want other e-mails between the SEC and the 4 Delaware regulators and nothing else, I don't know why you'd 5 want nothing else and I don't know why we would put the rest of 6 it on hold. There ought to be a data exchange, document 7 exchanges, and let's get to the depositions.

8 MR. FISCHER: I'm not suggesting it's that and nothing 9 else. What I'm suggesting is to the extent that there is that, 10 there are communications with regulators and regulators are 11 opining and giving their views on things and that's relevant to 12 the law and we needed to then come in and talk to your Honor in 13 more detail.

14 THE COURT: What are you going to talk to me about?
15 Here's what we got so far? I'm going to say so what. We're 16 not going to do summary judgment until we're done with 17 discovery.

18 MR. FISCHER: I guess, your Honor, it sounds like we 19 will have the opportunity to suggest that, we will have an 20 opportunity to opine on the right framework at some point.
21 That may be summary judgment.

22 THE COURT: Of course. To the extent that you think 23 that materials, there are more materials out there you haven't 24 gotten, you're free to make that point. To the extent that the 25 materials you've gotten suggest some other type of discovery

1 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 that the SEC is resisting you can make that point. My point is 2 let's go. Let's go.

3 MR. FISCHER: I don't think we're too far from that 4 point either. I think the way we were viewing it is we're 5 happy to get clarification on the law now and do the facts 6 later, and it doesn't have to be all that much later because 7 we'll proceed in an expedited way.

8 THE COURT: A motion for clarification? What does 9 that mean?

10 MR. FISCHER: It's hard for me to say not knowing what 11 the universe of documents may reveal.

12 THE COURT: Which is why we should finish discovery.

13 MR. FISCHER: That's fine. And I guess we'll have 14 that opportunity at the close of discovery to say maybe the 15 right framework wasn't in place at the time. Here we are now 16 knowing more much than we knew then.

17 THE COURT: Of course. Absolutely.

18 MR. FISCHER: I would raise two more what I think are 19 minor issues, maybe one one more. The SEC has insisted that 20 the documents that were produced that we have referred to back 21 and forth in the letters and have referred to today, that those 22 be referred to and submitted under seal. We've done that. I 23 don't see the basis to continue that sealing at this point in 24 time. We sort of inherited that obligation from prior counsel.
25 I'm not sure why they're still under seal. And quite frankly,

1 Echisecc ag

2 CONFERENCE

3 they're on the docket in that Garber case I mentioned.

4 THE COURT: You can write a letter asking to have -- 5 was it by consent or was it a sealing order that was entered on 6 consent of prior counsel? Write a letter asking to vacate the 7 sealing order.8 MR. FISCHER: I think a vacation of receipt of the 9 document.10 THE COURT: Write a letter and state as the great 11 champion of the First Amendment that you'll be in this letter, say why it runs afoul of the First Amendment, and I'll let the 12 SEC respond and we'll go from there.

13 Mr. McGrath.

14 MR. McGRATH: I agree with what I believe is your 15 proposal that we go forward with discovery the way we normally 16 would. The proposal that he's advanced is asymmetrical. I 17 think it's not going to accomplish anything. I could make an 18 argument why if I wanted it to be asymmetrical that we should 19 have no discovery on Delaware law because I don't think he's 20 going to make out any nexus. I don't think he's going to find 21 that that e-mail is as helpful to him as he thinks. But let's 22 go forward with discovery and we'll be back at the appropriate time.

23 THE COURT: Do we have a case management plan?

24 MR. McGRATH: We have the one you already signed.

25 THE COURT: Are you on target?

156 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

151
152 MR. McGRATH: We've served discovery requests. They 153 filed their objections. And we're waiting for theirs. So I 154 think after this conference now we'll presumably go forward at 155 a faster pace.

156 THE COURT: Can I get a preview of why the SEC thinks 157 the protective order should remain in place, especially if 158 these materials have been disclosed in some other case.

159 MR. McGRATH: I could give you a preview subject to me 160 confirming it. The reason we asked for it originally is at the 161 time the investigation that was focused on was separate from 162 this case was still an ongoing investigation. And it
163 identifies the person who is essentially, we don't use the word 164 target, who is the focus of the investigation. I don't know 165 whether that investigation has been closed yet. I'll check on 166 that. But even if it was, it's still sort of references this 167 person by name. So there's some privacy concerns there that I 168 want to think about.

169 I also don't know, Mr. Fisher represented that those 170 documents are on the docket. That's news to me. It may be the 171 case. But I don't know that the actual e-mails are in the 172 public docket. If they are, that's surprising to me.

173 THE COURT: There may be reference to them.

174 MR. FISCHER: I'm pretty sure they're attached to an 175 affidavit in support of summary judgment that was filed.

176 MR. McGRATH: We'll have to look at that. The third

1 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1       thing, your Honor, we're preserving this certainly at least at 2 this point, I think, as you're aware, Judge Scheindlin in that 3 case ordered the production of e-mails. They were forwarded by 4 the Delaware Commissioner's Office. They didn't contact us
5 first before doing that. There's a law enforcement privilege
6 argument I think that's valid that we might, if appropriate, 7 want to renew with you at the proper time. So I wouldn't want 8 to waive that privilege.

9                   THE COURT: We're not going to decide it now. Also, 10 discovery typically is outside the boundaries of the First 11 Amendment. It's when it becomes a court document, and you all 12 know that.

13                   MR. McGRATH: I don't see the need to unseal at this 14 point in time.

15                   THE COURT: Except if it's filed. Then they become 16 court documents.

17                   MR. FISCHER: The only thing I would say is I think 18 Judge Scheindlin, just to round it out, Judge Scheindlin did 19 reject the assertion of the law enforcement privilege over that 20 document. She issued an order on this. I think there was a 21 fight. They got the documents from Delaware. There was an 22 issue as to that. There was an assertion of law enforcement 23 privilege, there was maybe talk of assertion of work product, 24 which didn't happen. And then she issued an order on this 25 issue. I'm pretty sure she did.

156 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 MR. McGRATH: That's correct. We may ask your Honor 2 to revisit that and there may be arguments that we would 3 advance that weren't advanced before Judge Scheindlin.

4 MR. FISCHER: Understood.

5 THE COURT: Got it.

6 MR. FISCHER: That's helpful, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Is there anything else then?

8 MR. McGRATH: No, your Honor. I indicated that we 9 have received discovery objections from the defendants. I 10 think we have not had a chance to meet and confer. I think the 11 appropriate time for us to do that is after they serve their 12 document requests on us and we file our response, and we'll 13 meet and confer, and if we are not able to work things out, 14 we'll get back to your Honor. I didn't want there to be any 15 waiver.

16 THE COURT: We're looking at a pretty chaotic first 17 six months next year, so I'll refer the discovery issues to the 18 magistrate judge, and if you all have a beef with her ruling, 19 you'll know where to find me.

20 MR. FISCHER: Looking quickly at the discovery 21 schedule, I see that our document requests are due on New 22 Year's Eve. So I'll ask for a couple of extra days.

23 THE COURT: Or you could get them done beforehand.

24 MR. FISCHER: We will work that out, your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Anything else?

1 Echisecc ag

CONFERENCE

1 MR. McGRATH: No, your Honor. Thank you.

2 MR. FISCHER: That's all from us.

3 THE COURT: Enjoy the rest of the day.

4 MR. FISCHER: Thank your Honor.
